Top 17 Ways to Cut Your Prescription Drug Costs

1. You May Qualify for a Free Drug program.

- There are over 1,100 drugs that are made by 103 manufacturers who have free drug programs. Most major drug companies provide free medications, but rarely, if ever publicize their programs. An estimated two billion dollars of free medication is given away annually. This book lists available drugs.
- Larry's father has prostate cancer and takes Casodex every day, which costs $300 a month in the US, and $180 from Mexico. He sent his father's information to see if he qualified. He recently found out his father did qualify to receive the drug free. Larry just happened to see a small article buried inside the newspaper. He never knew these programs existed.

2. Get a Pharmacy Discount Card for Free.

www.benefithouse.com offers a free discount card to anyone any age that saves 13%-25% and covers all drugs dispensed at a pharmacy.

You can save at pharmacies such as Target, CVS, Medicine Shoppe, Walgreens, Kmart, Eckerd Drugs, Rite Aid, Krogers, Wal-Mart and many more.

3. Save Up to 93% by Asking for a Generic

- Use generics whenever they are available. Both brand name and generic drugs contain the same active ingredients, are the same in strength and dosage, meet the same government quality control standards.

- According to Mark Erblat, Pharmacy Director and owner of Rx For You, cost savings on brand name vs. generic will vary from drug to drug and pharmacy to pharmacy but can be significant. For instance:

- Prozac brand 20mg, 100 tablets cost $280.19 and generic sells for $29.99 (Savings 89%)
- Vasotec brand 5mg, 100 tablets costs $103.59 and generic sells for $18.19 (Savings 82%)
- Zantac brand 150mg 100 tablets costs $173.39 and generic sells for $10.99 (Savings 93%)
- Zestril brand 10mg 100 tablets costs $96.29 and generic sells for $39.99 (Savings 58%)

4. Veterans Now Qualify for More Benefits.

- Recent laws have changed that grant veterans medical benefits for certain illnesses like diabetes and hypertension, provided the veteran is subject to qualifying conditions like agent orange exposure.
- See if you qualify for benefits by checking with the Veteran's Administration.

5. Cut Your Costs in Half... by Using a Pill Splitter

- Most pharmacies should stock pill splitters. Sometimes, medications can be broken in half and save you 50%. The reason is because several pharmaceutical manufacturers price some of their medications the same for all strengths.

- Lipitor is essentially the same price for all strengths. It is possible to save as much as $100 on a one month supply of Lipitor just by getting the larger strength and cutting in half. Ask your pharmacist.
- This method may not be appropriate for all medications and could be dangerous if used with the wrong medication.
- Begin by asking your doctor or pharmacist if your medication is available in a dose double your normal dosage (ex, if you usually take a 20 mg. pill, is a 40 mg. pill available?). If it is, ask whether there would be any problems with splitting the tablets or capsules.
- Do a cost comparison between the two dosages. If the higher dose is less than double the cost for your regular dose then you will be saving money by having your doctor prescribe the higher dose and then splitting it. Cost savings is typically 32% to 50%
- Viagra is another medication that lends itself to being split in half or quarters to save 50% to 75% depending upon the dosage required. The average Viagra user who uses two doses per week can save over $400.00 per year.
- This method is not appropriate for all medications. Check with your pharmacist. Some easily split medications include: Ambien, Aricept, Buspar, Effexor, Lipitor, Luvox, Paxil, Remeron, Risperidal, Seroquel, Serzone, Viagra, Zoloft, Zyprexa (Ask your pharmacist about others)

6. Save by Buying a 90 vs. 30-Day Supply.

- Most pharmacies have higher savings on a longer days supply. In addition, when it comes to people who have insurance prescription coverage, there may be other savings by getting a larger day supply.

- For instance, if you have a $10 co-pay, the insurance company will let you get only a 30 days supply in general for that $10. A 90-day supply bought with out insurance may only cost you $18.
- This would be much cheaper than paying $10 per month ($30 for 90 days). It would also save you two trips to the pharmacy.

7. Ask for an Older Medication That is as Effective.

- Many pharmacists agree, that antibiotics are probably the most over prescribed, or incorrectly prescribed medications. Often, the physician will prescribe a newer antibiotic that has been promoted as more effective. What this really means is that it is considerably more expensive.
- The newer antibiotics are often no more effective than the older antibiotics. However, they are new and covered by patent protection. Therefore, the newer medication is more effective in ensuring a nice profit for the drug manufacturer for many years.
- Since many generics are made in the same factory as the brand name ones, make sure you ask your doctor for a generic antibiotic. A great generic broad-spectrum antibiotic costs 80% less than a new antibiotic. In dollars, it costs you $20 instead of $100.

8. Over-the-Counter Drugs May be as Effective as the Prescription Drug.

- Many doctors still prescribe Pepcid 20mg to their patients. A one-month supply of Pepcid 20mg cost approximately $60. Pepcid AC, over-the-counter in 10mg strength, taking double the dose costs approximately $23.
- Most prescription cold medications average $20 to $60 for a one month supply and contain the same decongestant that is available over-the-counter for less than $2.

9. Get Only a 7-day Supply of New Medication.

- If the doctor does not have samples, ask your pharmacist to give you only a one-week supply to try. It is a federal law that medicines can't be returned once they are dispensed. If you get a month's supply and can't tolerate the medicine, you have just lost that money.

10. Stop Using Drugs You No Longer Need.

- Review all your prescriptions with your doctor at each visit. You may be paying for some drugs you no longer need.
- Doctor run www.rxaminer.com provides a custom analysis of your medications to save you money. You can get a free, no obligation, Cost Screening to find out how much you can save.
- Also ask your pharmacist to review your medications in addition to your doctor. Here is why. A pharmacist's valuable services and knowledge are free. He may also find something your doctor missed.
- A lady developed a persistent cough after she had been taking a blood pressure medication for approximately 3 months. Her doctor treated her cough with antibiotics and cough syrup for 6 months. She asked her pharmacist about her cough lasting so long. The pharmacist found that a possible side effect of her new blood pressure medication was a persistent cough. Her doctor argued but changed her medicine and her cough stopped. The lady had spent over $750 in doctor's fees and medication just to treat the cough.
- A mother was giving her daughter antibiotics to treat a kidney infection. Her daughter consistently had a fever. This continued for several months. The baby's pediatrician prescribed several antibiotics unsuccessfully. After searching the literature, the pharmacist discovered that the antibiotic had a side effect of persistent low-grade fever. In the end, the mother had spent over $500 on doctor visits and prescription cost.

- Don't hesitate to ask your pharmacist questions, their advice is free and can often save you money and aggravation. Ask questions about side effects, and drug interactions.

11. Order Your Prescription Drugs by Phone.

- You can save 20%-50% by ordering prescription drugs over the phone. Bonus, you do not have to pick them up at the pharmacy.
- Make a list of your medications, including strength and number taken daily. Then list at least six pharmacies you are going to call. Don't forget about discount mail order sources too, several are listed on pages 45-46. Then call and get prices, ask if this is their best price available. Compare the costs.

12. Pay Attention to the Quantity.

- Find out how much medication you really may need, and make sure your doctor doesn't order you more medicine than is necessary to treat your condition.

13. Ask Your Doctor for Samples at Every visit. They Usually Have Plenty.

14. Take Only Those Drugs You Really Need.

- When your doctor prescribes medication for you, understand exactly what it's meant to do and for how long. If you are prescribed two drugs for the same symptom, ask if you really need both.

15. Buy Home Test Kits.

- Kits for determining ovulation, pregnancy and colorectal cancer, can be purchased as home tests instead of paying twice as much for similar kits at your doctor's office.

16. Cross the Border.

- If you live close to either Canada or Mexico, you can buy some medications in either country for 75% off the U.S. price.

17. AARP Members are Eligible for Many Discounts, Including Mail-Order Pharmacy Discounts.

- Ask for an AARP discount.

How to use this book

This publication has an easy to use alphabetical listing of 1,104 drugs made by 103 manufacturers who have patient assistance programs. Most major drug companies provide free medications, but rarely, if ever publicize the programs. An estimated two billion dollars of free medication is given away annually.

Pharmaceutical manufacturers' names and programs change frequently. If a drug that you use is not listed here ask your pharmacist or physician for the name of the manufacturer, and the phone number. You owe it to yourself to find out if there is a patient assistance program and if you qualify for it.

Get Drug Companies to Fill Your Prescription for FREE

Nearly 49 million Americans are lacking health care insurance. Many uninsured sick people can't afford potentially life saving drugs. Generally drug companies require a doctor's consent to provide the medication and proof of the patient's financial hardship. Each manufacturer has varying requirements that change frequently so they cannot be summarized for the purpose of this publication.

Though not widely known, drug companies have programs that offer many prescription drugs free of charge to poor and other qualified groups that cannot afford them. However, these free drug programs are being used by only a small number of people that could truly benefit from them.

Questions You Should Ask

Simply call the pharmaceutical manufacturer and ask them if they have a patient assistance program for the medication you need and ask what the requirements are. Some companies require that you have a limited income or no insurance coverage, while others require only that you get a doctor's referral. Frequently used names for these programs are reimbursement program; indigent patient program, compassionate care program or medical needs program.

In most cases you will need your physician to request your participation in a program by a phone call or letter from your doctor.

If your doctor refuses to call or does not believe the program will work, contact the drug companies yourself and find out about the application process. You will still need a doctor to fill out the application, but you can at least get the forms, and then encourage your doctor to complete them. There are services listed in the patient advocate section of this book that can help you fill out the forms and assist your doctor in helping you. If your doctor still refuses, maybe you can find another doctor who will help.

Find out how you will receive the prescription drugs, and how you can get refills. Most companies send the medications directly to your doctor. There have been some problems with delays in receiving the drugs, so check to see what the company's shipping schedule is, and what you or your doctor should do if there is a problem.

Ask your doctor if he/she has any samples of the drugs that you have been prescribed. Many manufacturers send free samples on a regular basis for doctors to give to their patients.
